GALEN REPOSH

Database Rules Administrator

PROFILE

My focus as a Database Rules Administrator is to bring a well-rounded skillet to the table, ensuring all aspects of the DBA role are address with the highest level of expertise. I combine my passion for developing technologies with my 6+ years of support experience to aide my team. I am always eager to learn something new while maintaining the ability to connect with people. I believe that effective communication and collaboration are just as important as technical skills, and I put that to practice with cross-functional teams to deliver amazing products.
